

The Jar, War & We're In Trouble 5-7-20@2:27 AM Journal Entry

“Our world is changing God. Will anything ever be the same?” “No, Child, it will not. Your world has been rocked by sin. Your world in part, now found to be held in the hands of the devil. Child, this world and all that it holds was created by Me. You once asked your friend, you wondered how beautiful your world, this earth, was when I created it before sin tainted it causing it to become infected and I shall tell you Child. It was amazingly beautiful. If you take, for example, Child, a jar. A clear glass jar that has been left outside partially buried with the dirt that sets there for years. If you pick that jar up and examine it closely, you will find that, yes, what you are looking at, it's still a jar. It is still what the Master Creator made it to be. But now instead of being able to see through the once clear glass, it is now covered with years of mud, dirt and grime. It is still the same glass jar, yet at the same time it is not. You can still use it to put stuff into it, even though it's dirty and grimy. If you are able to look through the glass at all, your view shall be distorted from the original way that it had been created to be.

This is how your world that you live in is today. It has become that filthy jar that has laid in the filth of sin brought into your world by the hands of lucifer when he tempted Eve with the forbidden fruit which she took. The origin of the sin was not taking the actual fruit into her hands and biting into it, but it was when the idea, the thought was placed into her mind and instead of casting it away as I have instructed My people to do, she took that suggestion, that idea of biting into that fruit and even possibly becoming like Me, like God and she contemplated it and studied it. When she determined in her mind that, yes, she would try this forbidden fruit, for what could truly possibly happen? After all they were God's beloved creation... and that Child, the moment she dwelt upon it and made the choice, the decision herself to do this abominable act against Me, sin was conceived within her heart, and sin, it entered not only mankind but into this once perfect world that I had created for Me and them to enjoy.

Now Child, everything that you behold, that you see in this world is like the dirty jar. If, and when you look at these things, the earth, this jar, everything you see is no longer clear but distorted by the dirt, by the effects of sin upon your world. But let's take this jar another step farther. If you take this dirty, filthy jar and you submerge it into some soap and water, you will find that when you scrub this jar with the soapy water and with a rag... Child, when you remove the layers of years of filth and grime, the jar which was always still a clear glass jar, you will be able to look through it and seeing clearly through it once again. This jar Child represents the soul of man because each person upon their creation, I breathe My breath of life into them, creating their soul into them at this moment also. They are created pure, beautiful and even innocent, but when they are conceived by man and woman and this child is placed inside the mother's womb, then Child, this soul will now have become tainted by man's sin nature that all mankind now has after sin was birthed into both Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden in which at that time their nature, their soul had become infected with sin and is passed down from person to person upon their birth into your world. Now mankind has become the filthy jar. It is still a jar! It can still prove to be functional but its capabilities are greatly impaired.

As man lives out their allotted time that they are ordained upon this earth, with each passing day or even a moment, their souls are becoming covered more and more like the filthy jar covered in dirt. For this is how sin affects your souls that I have given each person. A little lie here, an unkind word there, an act of fornication or adultery, these are all sin and they all corrode man's soul making it filthy to behold. But again Child, if man will come to Me and accept My gift of soap and water for the soul...which is... if they will accept My Son Jesus into your hearts as Your Lord and Savior, then His blood which He shed for you which is more powerful than any soap and water will ever be, it will wash you totally clean and spotless without any scrubbing.

His Blood is so powerful that years of dirt, your lifetime of sins are gone in an instant from the very moment that you accept Jesus into your heart. And when you do become redeemed, you will find when you look around at this world and all that I have created for man to behold, the trees, the birds, the sky, the grass to name a few, you will find it is like beholding them all for the first time. Even though this world is still tainted with sin, you are capable of seeing their true beauty and finding the worth of all that you see, including your fellow man. Because now you see through My eyes spiritually and not through the eyes of man, for you can now see clearly and do not have to try to have to look through the filth, the dirt, and grime of layers of sin like that of a dirty jar." "That is beautiful God. I want to be the cleanest, clearest jar that I can possibly ever be." "Dear Child, you are more valuable to Me than any jar shall ever be."

"God, I know that You being God, that You are superior in all Your ways, but I wanted to ask You something. God, You are all knowing. You know already the question upon my heart." "Ask your question Child, for I care what lies within My children's hearts, even when it's a question about Me." "Yes, God it is! Are You okay today? I mean, You're always okay for Your God. You do not get sick or age like we do, but we, mankind are made in Your likeness and we have some of Your attributes though small, significantly smaller than all Your greatness. I sensed, well, actually it was very obvious that You were angry with man and You are fed up with our ways of sin and the way that Your beloved creation just flaunts them before You. I know that You can hurt too, but unlike us, mankind, You forgive instantly all things. You do not have the ability or the capability within Your holy nature, Your being, to become bitter or full of hate or even resentful." "You are correct, Child, for these things you have mentioned are attributes of satan which he gives to all mankind. If you look at it in simple terms, I am everything positive, while he, and all that he gives is of a negative nature, because his ways are evil and Mine are pure and just.

Child, thank you for your concern and I have seen your tears that you have cried over the realization that the sins of My beloved creation does bring pain to My heart. It does Child, and man's continual refusal to repent for these vile sins, for all sin is evil, it has vexed My Spirit and has caused Me to rise up in righteous anger and even indignation. Child, do you remember in My Holy Word that I left for man, to be angry and sin not?" "Yes, God, yes, I do." "Well, this Child, is one of these moments, for if I in My anger had struck out at mankind, then I would have crushed him, destroying him in an instant, but no, Child, just as an earthly father gets angry at his beloved children and has to reprove and correct them when they become disobedient and unruly, the father reaching what you Child, refers as your 'done point,' so have I reached this point with the wickedness of mankind upon the earth."

"I'm sorry God, I feel bad about man choosing their momentary pleasures over Your wonderful, marvelous, great love. I have a hard time trying to understand how man who seeks love above all things in most instances, will turn and walk away from this love that You offer to us. Your love is the purest and sweetest love of all, for it is undefiled by sin. You are holy and all that comes from You is good. You are love itself. Even good can be found when reproof and even judgement has been pronounced for many things can occur and can be learned. We all must learn that with this gift of choice, of freewill that You have given us comes responsibility, for with every action or every decision that we, mankind makes, either as a whole people or separate, there are consequences which we must face, whether they be good or they are bad.”

“You are correct again this morning Child. I have warned all mankind through My Holy Word that the wages of sin are death. Death meaning both spiritual and the physical, for sin separates. Separates families, countries, and separates the soul of man from My holy presence. When I tell you again in My Holy Word to be ye angry and to sin not, this is exactly what I mean. I have been stacking up man’s many sins, those that they have refused to repent for, and I have weighed them in the balance and mankind as a whole, once again has been found wanting and unable to pay the balance due, that is owed. Only those who have received My Son Jesus into their hearts and upon them asking forgiveness for their many sins, their balance, their sins are removed and cast into the Sea of Forgetfulness and the balance due is now marked paid in full. I am angry Child, but not at you or My other precious children who are serving Me with all their hearts and not with empty promises and praises from feigned lips. I would rather Child, that your walk with Me be either hot or cold, preferably hot, but this wishy-washy lifestyle of serving Me on Sunday, while sinning on Monday is an abomination to Me, for I have warned you that all those I will spew out of My mouth. For lukewarm is an unacceptable state.

When you are an employee at a job, you are paid to do your job and do it well. If My people who claim to serve Me were to be paid in actual wages for their dedication and devotion to Me, then the majority of all mankind would be fired and jobless.” “You know God, I can’t help but at moments in time think about all these people that do actually believe in Your existence, but they think of You as an aged old man sitting upon Your cloud of wisdom, never moving off of Your throne as You give out commands for our continuance in a monotone voice as if You were uninterested in our insignificant lives. They are so dead wrong! I have found as I draw closer and closer into Your love, that You are just the opposite. You love us with an unending, unconditional love and we, those of us that truly love and serve You, You will protect us fiercely, more fiercely than that of a momma bear protecting her cub.

The tender embrace and warmth of Your arms when You wrap them around me spiritually is more real to me than that of another person. You care about the smallest of details and concerns that I have within My small life and even as a mother will rush to the side of her child when it has fallen, so shall You rush to My side. Although with You, God, You said You would move all Heaven and earth if needed to take care of Me and my need. My need, God, not my wants. There are moments in time when I am walking outside or sitting on the steps outside of my apartment and I will feel a gentle breeze, a breath, a kiss from You upon my face. God, You are more real to me than anything else and although in the natural, my body is not capable of seeing and beholding You in all Your majestic splendor, You leave me evidence that I can see that You do exist through the many wonders of our world.

Man has yet to fully understand how a child, their bones and bodies are capable of growing inside of a mother’s womb for the gift of life is a beautiful miracle given to us by You. The delicate petals of a flower shows Your gentle tenderness, for it is by Your hands, God, that all has been created. To know that man as a whole has turned their back from You, well, it hurts my heart God, and this pain runs deep and it grieves my spirit. I can't imagine how truly it must make You feel for we have only a very tiny amount of Your attributes placed within us. Our bodies are frail in nature being formed from dust! So God, I know You know this already but I shall say it again. My life that You have blessed me with, I have given it back to You, not because I have to, but I choose to do so, for when I received Jesus, Your precious Son into my heart, You changed me! I no longer fit into this world, nor do I have any desire to be part of it. I shall continue to live in this world while I still live, but I choose not to be a partaker anymore of the sins this world has to offer. If I should stumble and falter, I know that You will be here immediately to help pick me back up, for Your Word tells us that a just man falleth 7 times but rises up again.

My desire, my wish is for my life, all of my life, to be found pleasing to You! I don't want fame, notoriety, or wealth! I need only to have what You deem as needful for me to survive and although I love life, for it is truly a gift from You, my heart longs continually to be with You in Heaven, to finally be able to look upon my God, and to behold the face of my beloved Savior. This God, this is truly what I long for and in a time in our world as You mentioned yesterday when We conversed that You were tired of unrepented man hurling vile curses and spitting upon Jesus' great gift of Salvation, I, too see evidence in my small part of this great big world. I want You, God, to be able to know that when You choose to listen to me or to watch me no matter when and where, I want You to be pleased. I want my life, my words, my actions and deeds to represent You and uplift You. My goal, my desire for the time I have here on this earth before I get to join You in Heaven is to serve You faithfully while I do everything that I can to reach out to the lost, the dying, and the hurting.

When Jesus came and walked upon this earth, He reached out to the people, all the people, the undesirables as we on earth would categorize them as, and He loved them, loves us all unconditionally while bringing Your kingdom down to earth for fallen man. I believe God, that every person we meet is an opportunity to tell someone about You, or even for them to tell me of Your great goodness. Don't let me God, waste another opportunity for time is short and people are dying, have been dying, not just from this virus, this Covid-19, yet for the most part we, Your people have accepted this and go on our merry way. No, this is not how it's supposed to be! I wonder just how many missed opportunities that I might have had that would have led someone to Your Son Jesus? If they did not receive Him into their hearts, will their blood be required on my hands? I see God, why You have become so upset with mankind as a whole."

"Yes, Child, I see that you do! The decision Child, to fast forward this war of nations was made by man himself through his continual refusal to repent as a whole. There have been some who have truly repented, though few in number, but there are also many, being the majority who turned to Me during their crisis from the spreading of this virus to that of the many natural disasters that I have been calling forth. It is even as you spoke to your friend yesterday by phone, a massive worldwide call for repentance for your world stands on the precipice of war, a war between the great nations of your world. When this war of nations begins, many people shall die through the actions of evil and foolish man. The decision to take another person's life is a heavy consequence to bear within one's heart, yet you will all see evil in its truest form when some of your leaders will take gleeful pleasure from the deaths of others, considering these lost souls as mere numbers and statistics and not actual people.

It is these people, those not in positions of authority who shall suffer the most, for when the weapons of the nuclei begin to fly, where will the people go? Not in these hidden bunkers provided for your leaders, even some of your rich and wealthy, but the ordinary people, they shall be made to endure the horrors of these weapons with many dying almost instantly as these weapons goes off and many more to follow from what you call radiation sickness. But if your leaders are not careful, there will be no people left to lead, or no world left to conquer. Woe to foolish men! You call evil good, and good evil. Your evilness is needful to bring about this war of nations and famine that shall lead to the time of judgement in which antichrist shall rise and his tyrannical reign shall be more evil than all your worldly leaders combined. For he is satan's personal protege. He knows nothing of mercy, kindness, compassion or love having been brought up in the most sadistic ways possible, but his reign shall be short, but necessary, for all things work together by divine plan from Me, for I am your Creator. What I speak shall come to pass. Hold on Child, for I am not done working on Your behalf and you will realize I am not late, but exactly right on time where I will always be." "Thank You, God." "You are welcome, Child, You are most welcomed."
