

Lenticular Cloud Raining Blood Vision 1-28-26@8:28 AM

"My lovely Jesus Christ, I am here. I'm here my Love." "I want to show you something: My love, My bride ready, My daughter." "I'm here, I'm available." "Can you see it daughter?" "See what, my Love? Wait! I now see before my eyes what looks like a scene of a sky and clouds. Only the clouds are really one long stretched out cloud that looks like it has been layered with many layers stacked upon each other. I hear the word in my mind 'lenticular.' What does that mean? The area of land beneath it looks like it is a region where the soil has more red than dark brown color to it."

"Jesus Christ I see, I see what looks like white clouds with a few hints of grey stacked upon each other that causes the huge clouds to have a ribbed look as if layered except the left and right edges somehow look rounded. I've heard of these before called mountain clouds, but I've never seen one. Jesus Christ, why are You showing me this? It's beautiful, but somehow out of place in the sky."

"Look closely, daughter, tell Me what do you see?" "I see the cloud is expanding. It's getting bigger and wider in its size and instead of it beginning to dissipate, it's not breaking up and fading away as clouds sometimes do. What's it doing? Jesus Christ what is this cloud doing? I've never heard of one expanding and maintaining its shape. Do they do that?"

"Not like this one daughter." "I see, I see it's now become massive in the sky and is covering a greater area than before in the sky. It's maintaining its shape while spreading wider and outward in every direction. What's happening?" "What do you know, what have you heard, daughter, about these clouds?" "Jesus my Love, I don't know a whole lot about them. I have read how some people think they're related to alien ships or portal activities. I do know they have occurred in the sky for many years."

"What else daughter? What do you feel when you look at this cloud, and I am referring in My Spirit realm? Discern for Me what My Holy Spirit is conveying to you." "Holy Ghost Spirit, please help me. I see, I see as the cloud continues to spread there is a sense of increasing foreboding in the spirit realm like it's a warning. My Holy Ghost alarms are sounding off. I see that the sunlight is starting to fade and the ground no longer has a reddish appearance. Jesus Christ, this lenticular cloud is bringing trouble to someone or someplace isn't it?" "It is daughter."

"Jesus Christ it just keeps growing and expanding in the sky, while never breaking apart. Now it's picked up speed and seems to be moving from place to place in the sky and pausing sometimes. But there's more! What's happening? Oh Jesus Christ, this massive cloud is pouring blood. It's pouring, its raining blood in great streams gushing out of it soaking the land as it makes its passover, stopping only briefly in some places so the whole land that's beneath it is covered. Places are totally soaked in blood while in other locations this cloud passes over are only partially covered in this pouring, raining blood issuing out of the massive moving lenticular cloud."

"I see it, I see it all. What does it mean Jesus Christ? Now the once mostly white layered cloud has begun to get darker. Although it's still formed with its many layers never losing its shape, it has now become an angry grey in color. That's what I see when I look at it. It's angry and grey

now. What does this mean Jesus Christ? Why is it pouring and raining blood in some areas totally saturating it, in other areas it's only partially being covered. Why is this cloud raining blood to begin with? Jesus Christ, in Your Name I ask You please tell me what this means and where this is at? What lands are being covered in blood?" "Look daughter, look again and I will show you."

Now I see before me a partially flat map laying open. Each side of it on the left and right is folded, hiding much of it. I see it's a world map with North America being the part that I can see displayed. I see in the middle of the map what I recognize as the United States. Except on this map it's all totally brown with only its borders outlined in black distinguishing it from those that surround it. In bold black letters, all capital letters I see, 'USA.' I see, I see now the name USA has a large red X marking over its name. I see before me read letters forming and land below the marked-out name USA and forms the name Babylon. I see now that the lenticular cloud is traveling over Babylon.

"That's strange Jesus Christ, this massive lenticular cloud, though still pouring blood, does not cast a shadow on the map like it normally should. It's a warning of judgment, or a judgment against America Babylon itself. I say this because You are Light it says in the Word of God. Light has no shadows or darkness to it. Is this why the lenticular cloud displays no shadow on the map below it, because it's righteous, holy judgment from You? Is this what I'm seeing?" "In part daughter." "Will the cloud move to other locations of the world, Jesus Christ?" "It's presence daughter shall have a rippling effect upon the whole world."

"Now it's gone, the vision is gone! Oh Jesus Christ, what was that lenticular cloud? What is it?" "A warning daughter, but also the judgment itself. I'm about to soak America-Babylon in a bloodbath for much, much blood of the innocent has been shed here for the fallen ones. This daughter is what I have shown you this day." "What type of bloodbath is it Jesus Christ?" "That daughter shall soon be evidently seen."
