

Here I Come O' World 8-20-26@6:44 AM Shared 8-21-26

Let judgment flow this day like mercy once flowed for this world.

Let peace be removed from the hearts of the unfaithful generation of people far and near.

Let mercy's streams be unending for those who serve My Father and Me with faithful hearts.

Let judgment flow like burning, hot pitch to the destruction of the evil world.

Daughter, it's burning time for the world! I have scorched it by the force of the sun's rays over many areas of man's world. I have burned down homes, cities, forests of trees, and mountains high and valleys low. Yet still few have repented.

I have sent storms, floods, burning heat and wind, dust storms, and raging tornadoes. Still few have repented.

Now I bring melting hot, burning fire as mountains erupt with the liquid fire, while fire storms, nuclear heat and fire burns more and more of this evil, wicked world and I've only just begun in raising My Right Arm of Justice to this world.

Never before has the world seen My wrath. At times My anger, yes, Daughter, but My wrath, no!

I walk this Earth again in holy righteousness of purging fire. I come O' world to set you ablaze with fire.

I bring fire of war from the destruction caused by man's missiles, bombs, and torpedoes. I bring down their labs of biological warfare makings. Yet to the public so many remain blissfully unaware, because they're dried up spiritually or stone cold asleep.

Let judgment, holy judgment stream forth in unending rivers from this moment onward until all is fully purged.

Like a match that is lit then placed upon the kindling sticks from here the fire shall take off in its ferocity and come to life devouring all that's in its path. I, Daughter, am this fire!

I am a Consuming Fire of righteousness.

I am a Consuming Fire of justice.

I am a Consuming Fire that burns away the filth of the world's sin stains upon My earth I have created.

I am the Consuming Fire who ignites the mountains of volcanoes whose liquid flames shall burn all that's in its path and sight for most. While I shall erupt from the ground others that lay beneath the waters and soil.

I am this Consuming Fire that has ignited your world's Ring of Fire.

I bring justice in My left hand, and a sword of vengeance in My right.

You're waiting time is over, world, I have arrived. My appointed time has come once again to your world.

Will you be crushed by Me the Cornerstone you rejected with My burning holy flames of vengeance and retribution?

Or will you be broken into a worthy vessel in Me. Yielded and still who can now call Me their Lord, Protector, Provider, instead of the Avenging Son of God whose Blood still flows freely for all who will come. Even though most will trample beneath their feet the cost and worth of My sacrifice as if it were refuse and garbage.

That is until you stand before Me on the Day of Judgment itself. When you look into My burning eyes of holy fire and righteousness, you will not be able to stand so arrogantly, as I order you to depart from Me into everlasting flames and torment. Where once again you will face the burning fires of judgment not seen by man fully until you are cast into it forever.

Your time has come O' world, and none will be spared, for all will feel the effects of My righteous sword directly or indirectly as each strike of My bloody sword sends out shockwaves of rippling effects. Like that which occurs when the pebble is thrown into a body of water.

Repent all you who My Holy Spirit is convicting. Come now! No longer delay for My appointed time has come and I walk the Earth again. I walk the waters and sky again, as an all-consuming Judge of holy fire and retribution.

In My left hand I also carry the balances weighed for each inhabitant inside this created firmament. My time has come! The Day of the Lord is here upon you. I stand at the door of your heart's knocking. Will you meet Me as still the Redeeming Savior? Or meet Me as the Vengeful Savior who has come as Holy Judge and Consuming Fire to set things right in the world of man? While purging it all from its foundation pillars up in My fiery fire of holy justice.

Let mercy flow like rivers for My children.

Let judgment's fire pour down in unending streams till all is completed from this time forth in the world of man I created. Daughter, My time has come. My appointed time once again to return to the world of man has come. It is here.

Here I come O' world, here I come!
