

We Are Judged & Found Guilty 10-1-20@4:26 AM Journal Entry

“You have been telling and warning me for months that we are entering a famine of food, of water, and of Your precious Holy Word, and today there is an article from yesterday 9-30-20 on www.zerohedge.com and it’s titled, “Global Food Shortages Are Becoming Very Real, And US Grocery Store Chains Are Preparing For Worst Case Scenarios,” by a Tyler Durden and the time is 20:40, but this article has been picked up by many other internet sites. It says in the opening statement, ‘The head of the UN World Food Program repeatedly warned us that we would soon be facing famines of biblical proportions!’ A little further down he makes the comment, ‘We are being told that food shortages are becoming acute from Mexico City all the way down to the southern tip of South America, and those that are the poorest are being hit the hardest.’ This Jesus is one of the facts that You pointed out, famine in Mexico, that would be one of the causes of Mexico joining Putin’s evil and unholy coalition as You keep calling it to me. You are a God of great love, mercy, and compassion, and through these Heavenly traits You have given man ample times to fall on their faces and to repent, but of course man is stubborn, and the majority of them have refused to repent. So great is the love of their many sins they coddle up to their breasts and take them deep into their bosom and now we all, the faithful few and the rest of this world, especially this wicked nation that we live in...yet, I still love dearly... shall suffer! Forgive me Jesus, forgive me, for despite all this inner struggle these facts remain true: You are God. You are faithful. You cannot lie. You will not abandon me.”

“If You say it, and Your mind has not for some mighty reason been changed, then it will happen and there is nothing that lowly man can do because Your divine will and purpose will be done regardless. Mostly Jesus...I trust You. I trust You, and I trust in You. So here We are Jesus, here We are. I tell You these things for You are my fFriend, the lover of my soul, my spiritual Husband as Isaiah 54:5 says. My Waymaker. Why shouldn’t I speak what’s in my heart when You see it already with Your great all seeing eyes? I love You Jesus, I love You, but I can’t depend on man. So, here I am Jesus Christ still waiting, but still willing to do all that You have called me to do and have laid out for my life. This righteous path that You have laid out for me. Somehow Jesus, even though I can’t see ‘how’ or even know the ‘whys’ that You tell me of all that You are telling me, I shall take down every dear and precious Word that You speak with me about, no matter what the subject may be. Because being in Your holy presence, reading Your Word, and being in constant prayer is what has kept, and is still keeping me somehow pressing forward. So I’m here Jesus. Thank You for listening so lovingly and tenderly while I poured out my heart to You even though You knew all that lies within me already. So, I’m ready if You so choose to discuss all these things that are to come, for I choose and desire to walk in obedience before You, even though I can’t see, myself, where to place my feet. I’m trusting You to hold true to all Your many promises. I love You Jesus and the simple fact is I shall serve You until my very last breath is taken here on earth, or should You gather me up with the rest of Your true church when You return for us. So I’m here Jesus, I’m here.”

“Dear Little One, precious Child, I have forewarned you this load you carried would be heavy yet, Child, yet, I am a faithful, true, and loving God. What I have spoken, what I have promised shall come to be, come to complete fruition. You have not been deceived, for war is here. It is actively working upon your world already. You have just not seen the full fruition of this manifestation of the full physical happenings of these actual strikes upon your soil with these weapons of the nuclei, but they are coming. They are here. They are ready, for Putin sits ready, oh, so ready, unaware that what he is waiting for is My spoken command that I shall give to satan to allow him to begin this physical manifestation of this war of nations, and all it shall bring upon your world, even now already. You have been faithful Little One to all that I have asked of you with the majority of these times you were aware to do what I have asked of you would cause further distancing from those you love and hold dear, in addition to the much severer persecution that has followed. This is the road less traveled Child. I never promised it would be easy, for easy is the way of the world. As My true child, you will be tried, tested, rejected, and persecuted, but you must never, ever give up. What has been keeping you pressing onward Child, is indeed your hope and trust in Me. Because Child, when I tell you, I will never leave you, then this is the truth of the matter. To get Me to leave, you will either have to ask Me to leave or tell Me forcibly to get out of your life,. Something that your people, your nation as a whole have done already. Even your world, and this is why your world shall go fully into the horrors of war, this war of nations.”

“I have not deserted you Little One, for I see each and every tear, every single one that you have shed from your past, your present, and what lies in your future, for there are many more yet to come for you Little One. You have proven yourself faithful Child, faithful of heart and few in your world today can hold claim to this fact.” “I love You Jesus. I love You with all that’s within me. I don’t want any other.” “Yes, Child, yes, this is what I am meaning, for the love of many, their hearts have grown cold, ice cold, and it will take the fires of hell to even begin to thaw their cold stone hearts if left up to man to do the thawing. This is why I did come to your world Child, to be the sacrifice for the lost souls of your earth to be redeemed from the eternal effects of sin. For a heart without Me, Jesus, Son of God inside it is devoid of all true feelings of emotions other than hate, greed, all the earthly traits of their sin from their master satan. War has come to your world Child, for man has refused after attempt after attempt, after warning upon warning was given of what would come to man if he continually lived in his sins. While trying to wipe out all traces of Father God and Me upon your now evil, consumed world. Very few are ready, Child, for all that has come. Man has for the most part even ignored the signs already upon your world of all that is befalling mankind.”

“War will not be stopped, Child. This war of nations shall proceed forth, erupting upon your world in unheralded horrors upon horrors centering mostly upon your once great nation who wipes her hand across her mouth from her deliciously eaten sin that drives your once great nation deeper and further into the throws of judgement of this war of nations and all it entails. Foolish people who once walked with Me, your nation’s people have walked around in the beliefs that they could do all that they desired and go unscathed, unjudged. Read My Word, little children, and foolish people of your world. My Word which you have named the Holy Bible and not man’s watered down, polluted versions, and see if not history tells in times past what happens to all who play the harlot to My great love, and all who as a nation, as your world, denies My existence, and My sovereign right to reign supreme. For I am their Creator, their loving Father, and also man’s righteous Judge and you have been judged by My holy and righteous standards. Get your house in order for judgment has come.”

“Your sign is here and is to be brought forth, and in a few days hence, war will begin. This war of nations in its physical manifestation of these weapons of the nuclei, these missiles sent forth by Putin’s command upon your once great nation. You wondered Child, how much time would your people have when your presidential alarm is sounded across your nation and I shall tell you this. When Putin’s weapons of the nuclei are detected, this will leave your people very little time for anything but to pray. There shall be some opportunities for some to repent Child, while others shall have but a moment. But again these are the last windows and doors of opportunities for Salvation that I have instructed you to pray for Child, and this is Me answering these prayers. Others shall still have other opportunities from the faithful prayers that have been being prayed. It’s okay Child, for I realize that this type of information is not always easy for you to hear, for you are already heavy burdened for the lost souls of your world and nation. Judgment has come to your world once again My Child, for man indeed was weighed in the balance and his many sins tipped the scales against his favor, for he was found wanting. Even after I have given Myself for the redemption of sinner man, sinner people of your world and nation.”

“Your sign is here Child. War is here, and I am your world’s only hope, the only possible hope for your people to survive what has been called forth. Can you not feel the rumbling of truth in the air of all that I speak, and have spoken? Have not I told you your wait is over, that I would have you wait no longer? You who have proven yourself unwavering in your faith and trust in Me. Why so disheartened Child?” “You know oh Lord, for You are all knowing.” “Child, My hand is not shortened that I cannot reach down from Heaven and meet the needs of even just one of My little ones. Have not I told you in times past that I would move all of Heaven and earth to aid one of My little ones? Child, you are My beloved, My fair One. You are the love of My life, for Child, I died for you. I am here Little One, I’m here. Don’t lose hope Child, and don’t lose faith. I’m here Child. Hold on Child, hold on dear Little One. These things are now set to come to pass, and those who are scoffing I shall shut with My righteous hand of indignation. I have judged all by My righteous holy standards. Your friend senses the turmoil that lies within the air. It is the demons of war Child. It has begun. It has come upon your world. It is here. Judgment is here. This war of nations, it’s here, and all it brings with it including famines, death, destruction and devastation!”
