

A Super Plague-Like Illness Vision 10-5-26@10:10 AM Shared 10-6-26

"I'm here, Lord Jesus Christ." "Look Daughter, look. Look and see."

Lord, I see a woman, a young woman who's dark-haired. It looks brown, and she has it pulled back somehow. Her hand is on her forehead. Her skin looks light olive, or light tan. Not the light olive color of macron's skin that has a light pink hue to it. There's perspiration beads popping out upon her face. Now she's sweating profusely. She looks like she may have become delirious, possibly from a fever.

"Lord Jesus Christ, she keeps reaching her hand toward her throat as if it's bothering her." Now I see, I'm able to see the room she's in. It looks like a small bedroom. She's dressed in dark blue jeans and white tennis shoes with a dark blue Nike logo on the outer sides of them. Her shirt is dark blue with short sleeves that have white cuffs around them. The white cuff part has ragged edges that make it look like the material has been purposefully frayed. On the front of her shirt are the numbers 0 9 in white in the pattern like used on a sport's jersey. Each white letter also has the frayed material around the outer edges, like the cuffs of the sleeves.

She's young. She looks like she's in her late teens or early 20s. She's slender, and from appearances, it looks like she would be in good health if not for the obvious signs that something is terribly wrong and affecting her health. I see, suddenly, she takes in a deep breath as if she's having difficulty breathing. I see her stagger around the room. "Lord, she's gasping heavily as if breathing is difficult! What am I seeing, Lord Jesus Christ? Help her Lord! What's going on?" "Daughter, watch and see what's coming your world's way."

All of a sudden the woman's head goes backwards, her eyes begin rolling up until I can see only the whites of them. She reaches up and grabs her neck. I see, I see right now looks like small white round bumps have appeared on her hands and arms. These bumps I see are pronounced and round about the size of the top of one of the click pins I write with. "Lord Jesus, what's odd about them is that as they begin appearing on the young woman they appear as if in a uniform pattern and not random. They're breaking forth like a rash spreading rapidly, but they all look the same in size and appearance I don't see any redness around them. "Lord! Lord! What's happening now?"

I see, I see, oh, the woman is making a gurgling sound out her mouth. I see blood! I see blood coming out of her mouth. Now, now her nose; I see blood coming out of her nose. She's managed to cry out and cry sounds like she's in anguish and in great pain and distress. I see her reach your arms around her chest as if she's trying to breathe. "Lord, she's falling suddenly to the floor. She's collapsed."

I see the white bumps have now begun covering her neck and face. She's still bleeding out of her nose and mouth, but now also her ears. "Lord, Lord Jesus Christ, is she dead, is she dead?" I see, I see the woman is still on the floor. Suddenly, she took in a deep gulp of air, and then her body stiffened and went limp. She's not moving; I see she's not moving. Her body shows no sign of breathing. I think she's dead. Now the vision is gone.

"Lord, Lord Jesus Christ, what is this? Is this another man-made laboratory illness that's going to be released?"

"No Daughter, this will not be released by man or the fallen angels directly, but is it from Heaven's command. Like the botches once sent to plague the Philistines who had taken into their possession the Ark of the Covenant. This is the direct result of the enemy's tampering with illnesses already airborne in your world. This will be accidentally released, not even a weapon, just a harmless airborne germ that will attach itself to an airborne virus that will combine into one super plague not yet fully seen in the world of man."

"So, no man did not directly release, or engineer this illness to come, this plague, nor did the fallen ones, but indirectly, they did cause it as it was their tampering and manipulations of germs and viruses inside the world of man that will allow this super plague to be birthed into the air of man, of the firmament. Again, I am bringing judgment forth with the manipulation of what I have already created perfect being the main cause and how it shall be accomplished so both men and nephilim, demons and fallen angels will know they are the cause of it all and their actions carry a high cost, as even some of their own high-ranking, key figures will succumb to this swiftly coming plague pronounced on the world of man in righteous judgment and all the inhabitants of the Earth and firmament."
