

War During End Times Journal Entry 11-29-19@12:37 PM

“I’m here Lord, for I heard Your sweet voice calling out to me as I was praying.” “I am here also Child, for I wish to speak with thee.” “I am listening, my Lord, I am listening.”

“Perilous time shall soon be upon you Child, on those whose hearts are not ready to meet Me in the sky at My returning. All those left behind will be faced with hell on earth, for it will be a time like no other. A time that man cannot imagine or begin to comprehend. War is coming, Child to you quickly, to your nation and it’s going to be horrific, because war is not just fought hand to hand anymore. Now man has the ability to shoot their long range missiles across the globe. War upon war is coming and it will be with what man calls nuclear and chemical causing the mass destruction of literally millions of people across the earth for war is never pretty. It is made from hate, lies, deceit and betrayal all from the master deceiver satan, himself. He will cause the hearts and minds of men to rage against one another and nowhere will be safe. Economies will begin collapsing. Your young soldiers shall perish by the droves as they fight a continual battle fueled by hatred for one another. Soon after My returning all this shall transpire. There will be no true love left in this world except the few people that are Mine, My remnant.”

“Imagine if you can Child, a world with no love in it, only hate and misery. There will be no mercy, no compassion. Lawlessness will abound. People will be turning on one another like the rabid dogs fighting over a piece of decaying meat.” “What else Lord?” “The hearts of many will wax colder and colder as their hatred for Me and that of fallen man begins to grow. Famine, diseases, plagues, murder, and riots will all become rapidly spreading from nation to nation as there will be no sense of right or wrong. Mankind will follow their hearts which are deceitfully wicked above all things and then when it seems all hope is gone and the governments are going to totally collapse, a lone figure shall arise bringing with him the false hope of a better future. A unity of all nations and religions as one. This is antichrist and all people but a few will love him and worship him. Antichrist will burst on the scene led by the supernatural powers of lucifer, himself and he will be catapulted into power and elected Supreme Ruler of all. His false prophet shall call forth down signs and wonders from the sky marveling and deceiving many of the people for all will be amazed at the power he displays on behalf of antichrist. Then, antichrist shall suffer a blow to the head causing a fatal blow and he will be supernaturally revived by means unknown, as satan himself enters into antichrist and takes full possession of this man.”

“The already cruel man will become a tyrant to all ruling with an iron fist. He will be no lover of womankind, preferring his own kind to pleasure himself with. His evilness will have no boundaries for he will be inhabited by satan, the very seed of all sin himself and satan will finally have full reign over this world. But only for a brief period of time for I, Jesus will return again but this time with My saints, My bride where we will war against antichrist and his armies at the battle of Armageddon. The carcasses of his fallen armies will be stacked high upon each other and the vultures shall eat for days, but antichrist and his false prophet shall perish in this great battle, this great war.”

“Lucifer will be bound in chains, a thousand years with no hope of escape and no chance for redemption and My people and I shall begin the Millennial reign, a thousand years of peace upon the earth as I rule My people in peace and love. Then satan, that sly fox will be released and I will defeat him once and for all and he, the fallen ones and all those who chose not to receive Me as their Savior will all be cast into the eternal lake of fire where the worm dieth not, after the great Day of Judgement where every knee and every tongue including satan and the fallen ones will acknowledge that I, Jesus, am Lord of all. Do you understand everything that I have spoken unto you Child?" Yes, Jesus, I do!" "Good, for it is time for man to know and to be aware, what is about to take place. Write Child, every word I tell you and get My word out while there's still time to tell it."
