

A Holy, Major SmackDown is Coming 12-21-25@1:19 PM Shared 12-22-25

"I'm about to give the kingdom of darkness a SmackDown. This is spoken in words you will understand daughter." "What do you mean You're about to give the kingdom of darkness a SmackDown, if I may ask? Because it discerns from You." "That's because daughter, it was Me speaking. When I say this, I am referring to holy, righteous judgment given from My Father's Throne of Grace against the evils and wrongs they are doing to our people, our Earth that We created for man to live on, not fallen angels. It was man that was given dominion all inside the created firmament. Like a caretaker of things it was entrusted into man's hands. They still have rightful dominion, but after Adam and Eve sinned in the garden, the evil ones, the fallen ones were able to manipulate My people into doing what they wanted. Soon the fallen ones in part, took wives from the men of the Earth's daughters, and these daughters, not all were willing participants of these marriages, these unions.

"After the demons came into existence, the offspring of 'all' the fallen ones that had mated with, found on the earth, perished in the physical bodies, leaving only their evil malignant spirits. Evil spirits in demons they are called. Soon they would begin manipulating mankind further, and also possessing their bodies through agreements made, contracts, and such like that caused open doors into a man's soul and their atmosphere." "I understand this Jesus Christ, but what does this have to do with You giving the kingdom of darkness a smackdown? A smackdown means to knock something down in defeat. Usually it's so quick it can cause the other person to be humiliated, or it can be a severe rebuke or criticism. Which one are you meaning?"

"Daughter, I'm about to give lucifer and his kingdom a holy smackdown that will humble him in acknowledging, unwillingly, that I am in control. My Father is in control. It will be another blow to their kingdom issued out of holy judgment of the weighed balances of their evil doings, even before it's their time to reign with the man of sin, on the seat of the world's head of power. When the fallen angels' children die, the nephilim they are called by many, their bodies perish, but immediately when the spirit disconnects from their body, meaning the silver cord of life has been severed that connects body to spirit, then the spirits are left loose and do not return to My Father, the Lord of spirits. Unless otherwise commanded, all spirits return to Him at His appointed time upon the body's death."

"The nephilim upon their death are then evil spirits no longer possessing a physical body. They crave to have one again. They tempt man to sin to pollute his life, and turn him from his Holy God, but also because they can possess and live inside a man or woman's body, a child's along with that person's spirit inside the body as well. There are many, many nephilim that have been born and bred just for the end time days. The majority are behind the spirit barrier wall hidden in the ice wall of your world. In addition there are many who have been born of the fallen ones that are upon their deaths shall not turn into evil spirits if they are more human, more anything else, than fallen angels. But those who are 50% fallen angel, and 50% human, or whatever else of creation they have mated with, these are those who will become demons upon the death of their physical bodies."

"I understand this part, my lovely Jesus Christ, but if I may ask again my Love, what kind of SmackDown are You going to give lucifer, lu lu and his kingdom?" "Daughter, they are depending on the vast army of nephilim children to be able to continue to fight during the end time days, even after, should they die in battle. Because as it is right now, when their silver cord is cut, their spirits are merely released and they can continue to fight in the spirit form. They can enter one of their own and increase their strength using their own to aid them. They can inhabit such things as needed, and still remain in the fight... at least until now."

"On order, by My command, when the two realms, the physical and spiritual converge and merge into one, it will no longer be as it was in times past. The punishment ordered by My Father's command, with the fallen ones' sentence of guilty, for defiling themselves with mankind and the beast, and all they could from creation in an attempt to alter and to defile the Earth and its inhabitants to try to keep the promise of My existence coming from the woman, from her seed from being a pure strand of My Father's created DNA for mankind's Messiah, the Savior and Redeemer, in which they failed, part of the judgment against them was to see the death of their children, then they would become evil spirits. The disembodied spirits are also called demons that torment mankind. This judgment, and sentence for the children to become evil spirits has been fulfilled. Since time will have ended, and only the last remnants are being lived with no more to be given, those who die after all hell is released to ride with death, and after the physical and spiritual world, the two realms merge into one, any nephilim that dies that would in times past become an evil demon spirit, will no longer do so."

"Immediately, upon their deaths, they shall be bound and held in reserve until judgment day. This is different than when I speak of the time of judgment. There they will remain bound until they are cast into the Lake of Fire. This shall greatly reduce the numbers of the enemy's kingdom, and equal more the grounds of engagement for My children left behind and running for their lives."

"Wow, that is a big smackdown for them, and it's done in holy, righteous judgment, because that's all You can do." "Yes daughter it is. Mysteries are being revealed, but there are more, many more left hidden until the time of revealing given by My Father's command. So daughter, as you can see, lucifer is about to get a major, holy smackdown in which he must admit defeat, because it is I who hold the keys to death now, not him.
