

The Sun's Carrington-Like Event Dream 6-29-26@3:11 AM

I dreamed again my lovely Jesus Christ. This dream has been tried and tested and discerns it is from You. "Sweet Holy Ghost Spirit don't let me write one word that's not from my lovely Jesus Christ I ask His Name." "I won't Daughter of Zion, now write"

I dreamed I was in the heavens, what man calls space. I am looking directly at the sun. It looks like a huge, fiery mass. The flames seem to constantly flicker and move. The sun is massive. I could feel great heat from it, but I knew somehow Father God in Heaven is shielding me from most of the sun's great heat.

The sun's main body looks more white to me with faint yellow throughout it with hints of red more predominantly seen around its outer edges. Suddenly, there appears in the sun not quite in the center, but more to the left and downward some, a bright white light like a ball of an explosion.

It expands into a bright white wall of the sun's power. I realize it has erupted from the sun. It's powerful and huge. It is massive and bright to my eyes. I begin to feel the effects from where I am. I knew somehow it was hurtling toward the Earth. Whether this is a partial or direct hit from the sun to the Earth, I don't know. I look intently at the sun that still seems to glow with the brightness of the eruption it just spewed out. As I did I heard these words spoken to me audibly..

"I told you Daughter, a Carrington-like event is coming."

Then I woke from this dream.
