

Kim Jong Un, Putin, Persia & Mexico 2-13-20@3:42 AM Journal Entry

“I’m here God, but I have felt Your presence all morning as I went about doing a few things before sitting here with You and for this God, I am so grateful. Being able to hear Your sweet voice when everything else is so chaotic due to this oncoming war of nations I know now why You are also referred to as the Balm of Gilead in Jeremiah. Your beloved voice is like this balm, this rare perfume with its medicinal purposes being applied over my weary troubled soul. Having knowledge of all these things that You have revealed, some which has been revealed to all and some that You have had me to hold, to refrain, and knowing that Your words shall come to pass.... and that people, many, many people are going to perish and most without accepting Your Son Jesus as their Savior through this war of nations.....You have revealed much, so much to me of the evilness of men when controlled by satan. Yet again, I cling to this knowledge that anchors my soul. You God, You love me with an unconditional love and that nothing can happen to me that is not allowed by You except what is needed for Your divine will or purpose to come to pass. I know this to be true that whatever we may go through in life if we are faithful to You, then yes, You will never leave us nor forsake us and You are true to Your words whether they be bad or good. Even in the bad times if we really take a closer look during most times there will be 1 or more people, precious souls that we were able to reach out to and share Your blessed gift of Salvation that You have given us through Your Son Jesus’ ultimate sacrifice. All because of love, unconditional love on Your part for that of us, mankind, Your beloved creation!” “You are correct, Child! My great love for mankind, it is unconditional for no matter how evil or totally consumed by sin a person’s heart is, their souls are precious to Me and I am willing to forgive all except the true intentional blasphemy of My precious Holy Spirit, although I still love the various individuals throughout your history who have dared to commit this unpardonable sin, this act I shall not forgive.”

“Your president does know and acknowledges My existence, but he does not nor does he desire to serve Me and you, Child, you are a ‘mere’ woman whose sole purposes while on this earth are for the pleasuring of men and procuring children. They are nothing else in his eyes. So when all these things said including the war declaration date and the missile attacks occur at what I have told you, he will not locate any evidence of you being able to acquire this knowledge in advance and all that you continue to know. This war of nations, I say again it shall continue until the returning of My Son Jesus to reclaim His own unto Him and after the initial shock of each nation, each country over the disappearance of all that Jesus has taken with Him back to Heaven, there will be called a cease fire but it will not stop immediately. These things must occur to allow the rise of antichrist into full power. It is as you have suspected Child, for he has begun his ascent ever so slowly at first for his position of total dominance of your world. This war of nations has been called into existence when mankind continually ignored the urgings of My Holy Spirit to return unto Me and to repent, choosing rather to run deeper and deeper into their sins. Mankind’s sins, which are many, have been weighed in the balance and they have been found guilty. This war of nations is the prelude before the great time of judgment which is to be called down upon all the earth and its inhabitants.”

“Watch Child, as the stirring of nations begins for many shall rise in opposition of the oppressive power of the eagle, for even the people of the north that connects your country, although they shall align with the eagle in this war of nations, in times past your leader, your country has also treated them roughly. Your president as I foretold has no desire to negotiate with Iran, with Persia for the taste of war is in his mouth and running, coursing through his veins. His quest for power, for control is all but consuming him for how dare anyone oppose him? He shall use his position of power to have his way with that of your country and will surround himself with only those who will support him and his position. Look for an appointment of a woman to be placed into a position of power within your government for although in his eyes the female is inferior and beneath him, he sees the necessity for the continual support of that of your country's people for he shall win his reelection to that of president. Although the official count will not have been made or counted, your president shall be confident in his ability to win this election which he shall, and he shall begin his celebration early. His approval rate of that of your people shall rise due to his abilities of war. The people shall still be in confusion and chaos from the attacks by the missiles from the hands of Putin, Persia and that of Kim Jong Un for Iran shall attack those upon the waters of the deep causing your country much damage for them to fight on the water as well.

Look for the coming of more difficulties for your people as war progresses for again I say the feet of the south, the people of the oppressed to rise up in arms and tread upon your soil as well I say, of that the king of the east. Your civilians for your country shall for the most part, you will find, shall head toward the center of your country for the threat from the south and the king from the east from the west shall cause most to flee except for those of the military and those assisting shall remain.” “The people from the south, You keep mentioning them in our prior conversations but you have never confirmed my question if you are referring to Mexico. It is Mexico, isn't it?” “Yes Child, the people of the south are of the country of Mexico!” “Do they have a big army?” “Child, they have been increasing their military, which you will find to be steadily. They as well have been anticipating and preparing for this invasion upon your soil, especially after the severe oppression they have received by that of your present president.” “God, you keep talking about our country and President Trump oppressing their country. How so? For you know I do not watch the news or look something up on the internet unless You tell me it's okay.”

“Look up current relations between that of your country and that of Mexico on your internet and do it now and I shall show you the many atrocities put on the people of Mexico at the hands of your government, for the cries of the people come up before Me day and night.” “Okay, God, give me a moment. What am I looking for God?” “Center your focus on that of the border wall.” “The border wall?” “Yes, Child.” “I see where they, being our government, have sent in our National Guard to help guard this border wall that is being built and reinforced and a vast amount of people are trying to allegedly enter our country. These people are being held in centers. It also says they are leaving Mexico due to high crime rates, drug trafficking, poverty, unemployment and even climate hazards which lead to water shortages.” “Tell Me Child, if there are those among these immigrants and not all, for many are innocent, but there are many, I say many.... if they are able to gain entrance, they shall come into your country for the sole purpose to aid in the attack upon your country. How much easier shall you be to conquer if they have people already upon your soil?”

“You know my friend and I were discussing this very same scenario about China, the king of the east and how it was in the news in a report from Attorney General Bill Barr I believe is his name, about China already sending people to our country to put them in positions that would benefit them greatly for an attack against us. They told me this just a few days ago but God you had already told me in prior conversations that they would attack us.” “Yes, Child, I have forewarned you of many things that shall come to pass as you progress further into this war of nations and yes, and others like you who are obedient to My voice and will not be afraid to speak that which I have spoken. Many I have called but few have responded but these few have proven faithful and true. What do you think would happen to your country Child, if somewhere like China should conquer your country for they are still run by what you call a communist government?” “We would have no freedoms, none whatsoever, for even our freedom to worship and serve You would be taken away.” “You are correct, Child and this is one of the reasons their attempt shall fail and that of Mexico as well for your country must remain a true power when the antichrist rises into power.” “How are we so necessary, or how do we contribute to the antichrist's rise to power?” “That information Child, is for a later time as his appearance draws closer.” “Okay, God. ”
